

Heidi Maynard joined WSSDA in August 2012 as Director of Policy and Legal Services. Prior to that, she practiced administrative law as an Assistant General Counsel for the Florida Department of Education and the Florida Department of Health, served as a hearing officer for the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services and practiced civil litigation at a private law firm.

Heidi holds a bachelor's degree in history from the University of Georgia and studied journalism and mass communications at New York University prior to pursuing law. While pursuing her law degree from Florida State University, she studied the history of the common law and comparative criminal practice at Oxford University, England. She is licensed to practice in Florida, the District of Columbia and Washington.

Heidi is an avid fan of SEC and ACC college football and all things southern, although she loves Washington summers and being closer to family on the west coast. She and her husband and three daughters live in Olympia.
